

NOTICE:

We are very sorry but we have been notified by our web site hosting service that someone has claimed this book is copyrighted and must be removed from our site.

We take issue with that statement based on two facts:

1. There is a statement in the introduction of the on page xx indicating the book can be printed and circulated.
2. There is no copyright notice on the edition we had posted on this site.

This book was originally written about 700 years ago and has been translated from the original Arabic into English. It has been certified by the leading center of Islamic scholarship center as being approved as an accurate translation and conforms to the practice and faith of the orthodox Sunni Community.

It clearly spells out what is required and practiced under Shari'a Law.

Our suspicious nature tells us the demand to remove this publication was due to the fact this book tells the real truth about Islam. We encourage you obtain a copy and learn from their own words, the facts about Shari'a Law.

Update: We have located another site that is carrying a copy of the book HERE. There seems to be several sites that provide free downloads of this document, however, we will continue to not post the pdf version on this site. Use your own judgment if you want to download a copy from another site.
